

MASTER EDGE TRUST

REDEFINING FOREX TRADING EXCELLENCE

Master Edge Trust Risk Disclosure

At Master Edge Trust, we provide clients with the opportunity to trade forex, indices, commodities, futures, cryptocurrencies, and other financial instruments (CFDs). While these assets offer significant potential for returns, they also carry substantial risks and may not be suitable for all investors. Market volatility can result in considerable gains or severe losses, potentially affecting your deposited funds. We strongly encourage all clients to approach trading with caution and responsibility.

In the event of losses on initial funds, you may need to make additional deposits to maintain open positions. Failure to meet the required funding levels may lead to the forced liquidation of positions, with you being responsible for any resulting deficits.

Before engaging in trading or investment activities, it is essential to carefully evaluate your investment objectives, level of trading experience, and risk tolerance.

Important Notice

The following information serves as general guidance on the risks associated with financial products and services offered on our platform.

Key Risks Associated with Trading on Master Edge Trust

1. Leverage Risk

Leveraged trading amplifies both potential profits and losses. High leverage may result in the total loss of your investment.

2. Cryptocurrency Risk

As a counterparty to transactions on our platform, Master Edge Trust is exposed to counterparty risks, including the risk of insolvency. This could affect the company's ability to meet its obligations.

3. Volatility Risk

Cryptocurrencies are subject to extreme price volatility. Master Edge Trust does not guarantee price stability. Clients must monitor market movements and trade within their risk tolerance.

4. Liquidity Risk

Market liquidity can vary significantly, impacting the ease of buying or selling assets. Master Edge Trust reserves the right to suspend or remove trading for specific assets without prior notice.

5. Security Risk

Digital assets stored on platforms may be vulnerable to hacking or theft. In the event of unauthorized access, recovery of lost funds may not be possible.

6. Technological Risk

Blockchain technology, the foundation of digital currencies, is susceptible to technical failures, bugs, or regulatory challenges, which could impact asset accessibility.

7. Operational Risk

Unexpected platform downtime or maintenance could disrupt access or the ability to execute trades, potentially leading to losses.

8. Regulatory Risk

Digital currencies are subject to evolving legal and regulatory frameworks. Changes in these frameworks may affect the value, legality, or trading of these assets.

9. Market Manipulation Risk

Cryptocurrency markets are susceptible to manipulation by external parties. Clients should exercise vigilance and make informed decisions.

10. Value Risk

Cryptocurrencies are not backed by any central authority. Their value relies solely on technological integrity and market trust, which may not guarantee stability or widespread acceptance.

11. Encryption Risk

Safeguarding private keys to digital wallets is the user's responsibility. Loss or compromise of these keys can result in irreversible asset loss.

Acknowledgment of Risks

By using our platform, you acknowledge and accept the inherent risks associated with trading and holding financial instruments, including risks not explicitly outlined here. It is your responsibility to assess these risks in light of your financial situation and risk tolerance.

Master Edge Trust does not provide investment, legal, or tax advice and does not account for individual financial circumstances. We strongly recommend seeking independent professional advice before using our services.
